-------0------------------|                                     And all to do is weep, come down.

Em             G                Bm7                             Em           G              Bm7
Last night the moon watched the sea,                            And when the up comes to an end,
                Em                                                         Em
As he looked so sad,                                            And all is last,
               G           Bm7                                              G             Bm7
His reflection told me the story,                               The moon will lose his only friend,

       C                                                                      C      Em         (strum this chorus)
Em                                                              Still we never speak a sound,
