Blue sky (Blue sky)
Blue sky (Blue sky)
Blue sky (Blue sky)
Blue sky
I find it hard to breathe as life just eats away
At the faces that surround me they look tired today
                            Bb
The lady at my table doesn't want me here
I just want to talk to her
But will she laugh at my accent and make fun of me
                                                Em F Em F
Oh doesn't seem like this blue sky's here for me
There are no girls in here as far as I can see
```

```
Only pinned up posters looking down at me
Watching paper cups of coffee going cold before my eyes \bar{\ }
All the things I see that make me realise
I'm in this big world without you, nothing to my name
Oh I never feel like blue sky meant to stay.
       Am
Blue sky (Blue sky)
       \mathsf{Am}
Blue sky (Blue sky)
Blue sky (Blue sky)
Blue sky
I'm dying to be different in the coffee shop
I live to borrow strength, now my supplies are cut
Oh I'm older than my looks and younger than my years
I'm too young to take on my deepest fears
Oh I used to be confused but now I just dont know
Since you left I've been watching blue skies come and go
Since you left I've been watching blue skies come and go
