Everything must have it's season

'Round, and 'round it goes

And every day's the one before

But this time, this time

I'm gonna try anything to just feel better

Tell me what to do

You know I can't see through the haze around me

And I'll do anything to just feel better

And I can't find my way

God, I need a change

And I'll do anything to just feel better

Any little thing to just feel better

I'm tired of holding on

To all the things I'll leave behind

It's really getting lonely

I think I need a little help this time

I'm gonna try anything to just feel better

Tell me what to do

You know I can't see through the haze around me

And I'll do anything to just feel better

And I can't find my way

God, I need a change

And I'll do anything to just feel better

Any little thing to just feel better
