

Alanis Morissette - Excuses

Tom: D

Why no one will help me i am too dumb i am too smart they'll not understand me i am lonely they'll hate me and there is not enough time its too hard to help me and god wants me to work no resting no lazy these excuses how they served me so well they kept me safe they kept me stuck they kept me locked in my own cell im too far from home it takes far too much energy and i cannot afford to no one will ever see me these excuses how they served me so well

 these excuses how they're so familiar they kept me blocked they kept me small they kept me safe inside my shell bringing these into the light shakes their foundation and clears my sight now my imagination is the only thing that limits the bar and it's rise to the heights no one can have it all i see i have to, they want me to and i can't let them down I will never be happy
