If you're willing to wait for the love of your life
Dm Please wait by the line
F And you know dispersive prisms rainbow
Dm But my native optimism isn't broken by the light

F The idea of life without company fell suddenly
A It crashed through the ceiling on me
Dm And pinned me to the pine
F And layer upon layer of hope and doubt
Dm Will crush bones to oil in time

D A D A Em D G
 Are you a pusher or are you a puller?
Em I pull the weight towards me
D A D A Em D G
 And I lack the zest of a lemon, looking forward
Em Unless I have a woman pushing me

F A canopy of red-billed quelea
Dm Passed over the blue
F

A five hour flock, not one dives down
Dm To tell you the truth
F As night falls, a quelea crawls
Dm And whispers on his last wings:
F So abundant are we, left alone I shall be
Dm But a waited phone never rings
