

Andragonia - Sweet Aurora

```
I was counting the days
                                                                Preparing you arrival
                            tom:
                Bh
Intro: D
                                                                [Refrão]
Sweet Aurora I've never thought
  Fadd9
                                                                          Eb7M
                                                                                          Gm
That destiny would
                                                                I'd Never had thought you were a piece of me
                                                                                       Bh
Changed its own mind
                                                                You would be a careless that went away
                                                                         Eb7M
[Primeira Parte]
                                                                You would be a heritage
                                                                       F
                                                                A mirror that I lost
That fall you disappeared
                                                                [Solo] F Bb
After you return
Aurora rose up as the guiding
                                                                Winter came back
Light of your love
                                                                Winter came back
Over the light of dawn I felt your beat
                                                                Winter came back
I was counting the days
                                                                [Refrão]
Preparing you arrival
                                                                          Dm
                                                                I'd Never had thought you were a piece of me
[Refrão]
                                                                                       Eb
                                                                You would be a careless that went away
         Eb7M
                          Gm
                                                                         Dm
I'd Never had thought you were a piece of \ensuremath{\mathsf{me}}
                                                                You would be a heritage
                       Bb
                                                                         Gm
You would be a careless that went away
                                                                A mirror that I lost
         Eb7M
You would be a heritage
                                                                [Refrão]
               Bh
A mirror that I lost
                                                                I'd Never had thought you were a piece of me
[Segunda Parte]
                                                                         Bb
                                                                You would be a careless that went away
                                                                          Dm
                                                                You would be a heritage
So winter came back
                                                                       Gm
And I've lost in a thorn maze
                                                                A mirror that I lost
     Bb Bb
I've lost my steps
                                                                Winter came back
      Bb
And I forgot my own shadow
                                                                Winter came back
Over the light of dawn I felt your beat
```

Acordes

