

Andrew Belle - Sky's Still Blue

tom:

Intro: A Gbm Dbm E

A
You never see clearly, 'til you stop cryin'
Gbm
I never found it, until I stopped tryin'
Dbm E Gbm
I stumbled upon you, and fell through the ceilin' tiles

A
I started a fire to smoke out my treasons
Gbm Dbm E
I tore down a building to pick up the pieces
A Gbm Dbm
And now on a clear glass wall, I can see our fate
E
But it's a little too late

Gbm
Oh if you're hearing this
D A E
I must have made it through
Gbm D
Oh when the clouds above are overlooking my window
A E
I see the sky's still blue

A
You never hold onto what we believe in Gbm
I think I've lost you, tell me I'm dreamin'

Dbm E
Why do we wait to live 'til we begin to die?
A Gbm
I made the incision, I begged and I borrowed
Dbm E
I traded my vision for heartache and sorrow
A Gbm
But now that I've found my sight
Dbm E
Oh, I finally realize I was born to go blind

Gbm
Oh if you're hearing this
D A E
I must have made it through
Gbm D
Oh when the clouds above are overlooking my window
A E
I see the sky's still blue

The part with ooh's
(Gbm D A E)
