

Angra - Passing By

```
tom:
                                                            You can't deny
               Dbm
Intro: Dbm Badd9 Gbm Aadd9
       Dbm Badd9 G Aadd9 E
                                                            It's in your eyes
            Badd9
                                                                            Badd9
                                                            Dbm
Home you go tonight
                                                            Visions disappear
To break the sound of tears
                                                            Memories of a dream
                                                            Aadd9
         Aadd9
Life's fading
                                                            Surrender!
                  Badd9
                                                                               Badd9
Dbm
                                                            Dbm
To keep the world away
                                                            Give them to the wind
               G Aadd9
Is not enough to ease the pain
                                                            Deny your sorrow, live again
D Dbm
              Cadd9 Aadd9 Bbadd9 Badd9
                                                                    Dbm
                                                                           Cadd9 Aadd9
Time is passing by
                                                            Time is passing by
(time is passing by)
                                                             (time is passing by)
D Dbm
              Cadd9 Aadd9
                                                                                     Badd9
                                                            Bbadd9
                                                            I see it in your eyes, I see it in your eyes
Time is passing by
                                                                   Dbm Cadd9 Aadd9
(time is passing by)
                                                            Time is passing by
Bbadd9
I see it in your eyes
                                                             (time is passing by)
                                                                                     Badd9
                                                            Bbadd9
               Badd9
                                                            I see it in your eyes, I see it in your eyes
Fire burns inside
                                                            They tell me all
A light that's caught between
                                                                           Cadd9 Aadd9
                                                                    Dbm
          Aadd9
Night and day
                                                            Time is passing by
Sun's been set to die
                                                             (time is passing by)
             G Aadd9
                                                                                     Badd9
                                                            Bhadd9
                                                            I see it in your eyes, I see it in your eyes
The supernova in your mind
                                                                   Dbm Cadd9 Aadd9
              Cadd9 Aadd9
     Dbm
                                                            Time is passing by
Time is passing by
                                                             (time is passing by)
                                                                                     Badd9
(time is passing by)
                                                            Bbadd9
Bbadd9
                        Badd9
                                                            I see it in your eyes, I see it in your eyes
I see it in your eyes, I see it in your eyes
D Dbm Cadd9 Aadd9
                                                             ( D Dbm Cadd9 Aadd9 Bbadd9 Badd9 )
                                                             ( D Dbm Cadd9 Aadd9 )
Time is passing by
(time is passing by)
                                                            Bhadd9
                                                             They tell me all, you can't deny
                                                            Badd9
I see it in your eyes, I see it in your eyes
                                                            You know you tell me lies
```

They tell me all!

Acordes

