

Another Sunny Day - You Should All Be Murdered

One day, when the world is set to rights

I'm going to murder all the people I don't like

The people who have left me down without reserve

The people who are cruel to those that don't deserve

The people who talk too much

The people who don't care

The people whose lives are going nowhere

The people who just give in

The people who don't fight

The people I don't like

The people who broke my heart so bad it never mends

The people who wrecked my life and all my so-called friends

The people who don't know when to forget and forgive

These are the people who do not deserve to live

The people who talk too much

The people who don't care

The people whose lives just leave me crying in despair

The people who told me I was wrong and they were right

The people I don't like
