F                    Bb          C
William Taylor was a brisk young sailor
F                 Bb      C
Full of heart and full of play
F               Bb    C
Till his mind he did uncover
F    Bb       Bb C F
To a youthful lady gay

F               Bb      C
Four and twenty British sailors
F             Bb         C
Met him on the king's highway
F               Bb    C
As he went for to be married
F                  Bb   C  F
Pressed he was and sent away

Dm         Bb          C    Dm    Dm
Folleri-de-dom, de- daerai di dder o
Dm         Bb         Gm     Dm
Folleri-de-dom, domme daerai dae
Dm         Bb          C    Dm   Dm
Folleri-de-dom, de- daerai di-dder-o
Dm         Bb         Gm     F
Folleri-de-dom, domme daerai dae

F                  Bb      C
Sailor's clothing she put on
       F                   Bb    C
And she went on board as a man-o-war
    F                      Bb       C
Her pretty little fingers long and slender
F         Bb           Bb    C   F
They were smeared with pitch and tar

F                  Bb    C
On the ship there was a battle
F               Bb       C
She amongst the rest did fight
    F                  Bb     C
The wind blew off her silver buttons
    F            Bb        Bb  C F
Her breasts were bared all snowy white

Dm         Bb          C    Dm    Dm
Folleri-de-dom, de- daerai di dder o
Dm         Bb         Gm     Dm
Folleri-de-dom, domme daerai dae

Dm         Bb          C    Dm   Dm
Folleri-de-dom, de- daerai di-dder-o
Dm         Bb         Gm     F
Folleri-de-dom, domme daerai dae

F                Bb  C
When the captain did discover
   F                    Bb          C
He said Fair maid, what brought you here
F                 Bb      C
Sir, I'm seeking William Taylor
F                  Bb  C    F
Pressed he was by you last year

F              Bb     C
If you rise up in the morning
F            Bb       C
Early at the break of day
F                       Bb      C
There you'll find young William Taylor
F       Bb       Bb C F
Walking with his lady gay
Dm         Bb          C    Dm    Dm
Folleri-de-dom, de- daerai di dder o
Dm         Bb         Gm     Dm
Folleri-de-dom, domme daerai dae
Dm         Bb          C    Dm   Dm
Folleri-de-dom, de- daerai di-dder-o
Dm         Bb         Gm     F
Folleri-de-dom, domme daerai dae

F              Bb     C
She rose early in the morning
F            Bb       C
Early at the break of day
F                       Bb      C
There she spied young William Taylor
F       Bb        C   F
Walking with his lady gay

F              Bb      C
She procured a pair of pistols
F                    Bb      C
On the ground where she did stand
F                    Bb      C
There she shot bold William Taylor
F       Bb      Bb  C     F
And the lady at his right hand

Dm         Bb          C    Dm    Dm
Folleri-de-dom, de- daerai di dder o
Dm         Bb         Gm     Dm
Folleri-de-dom, domme daerai dae
Dm         Bb          C    Dm   Dm
Folleri-de-dom, de- daerai di-dder-o
Dm         Bb         Gm     F
Folleri-de-dom, domme daerai dae
