                                                              Red wine and mistakes
Intro: Am C F C
 Am C F C
                                                              Tears rollin? down your face
[Primeira Parte]
                                                              When I walked out that door
We've been swingin? and missin'
                                                              That?s when I lost it
It ain't broke yet, but damn, it needs fixin?
                                                              A midnight in Austin
Been a while since your kiss felt like kissin'
                                                              And damn I'm exhausted
It's just different
                                                                  C
                                                              What the hell?s this all for?
And we've been talking 'bout forever since we been together
                                                              Is this where it m?nds or it breaks?
                        C
Something 'bout a ring, makes you think we're better off with
                                                              Between a rock and a hard place
All this but we're caught in
                                                              ( F C Am )

That?s when I lost it
A midnight in Austin
                                                              Tears rollin? down your face
C Am
Damn I'm exhausted
                                                              As I walked out that door
What the hell?s this all for?
                                                              And that?s when I lost it
                                                              Midnight in Austin
Is this where it m?nds or it breaks?

                                                              What the hell?s this all for?
                                                              Is this where it m?nds or it breaks?
        Am
For th? record shit F
                                                              How much more of this can we take?
Throwin' in the towel takes some effort
                                                              [Final] Am C F C Am C F C
So I'd rather ride it out for better weather
