

Banners - Always Yours

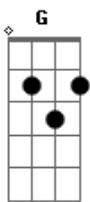

tom:
 Oh, the city's sleeping
 Every street light's calling out your name
 Oh, I must be dreaming
 Even though I'm wide awake, could've sworn I saw your face
 Heartbeat, spin the world around
 Tall ships, and sunsets touch the ground
 Straight lines they circle back to you
 'Cause I'm always yours
 I'm always yours
 'Cause the distance is only distance
 How could oceans come between us
 And when the lighthouse fires feel a world away
 Then you just have to remember that the dark won't last forever
 I'm always yours
 Lost in lonely times, yours
 In the middle of my nights to waking up
 It feels like every road sign's in a language I don't know
 Takes me far away from home

Heartbeat, spin the world around
 Tall ships, and sunsets touch the ground
 Straight lines they circle back to you
 'Cause I'm always yours
 I'm always yours
 'Cause the distance is only distance
 How could oceans come between us
 And when the lighthouse fires feel a world away
 Then you just have to remember that the dark won't last forever
 'Cause I'm always yours
 I'm always yours
 And when the lighthouse fires feel a world away
 Then you just have to remember that the dark won't last forever
 'Cause I'm always yours
 I'm always yours
 'Cause the distance is only distance
 How could oceans come between us?
 I'm always yours
