Tom: A
                                                                                    Е
                                                                             Gbm
                                                                Anywhere you go
            Α
If you're far from home
                                                                If your sky is falling down
            Dbm
                         E
Broken on a lonely road
                                                                        Em
                                                                I'll be right beside you now
                   D
Helpless when the sky explodes
                                                                                   D
                                                                And I'll keep you warm
                  Gbm
                         F
Then I need you to know
                                                                                     Gbm
                                                                Yeah, I'll keep you warm
            Α
When you're 'round the bend
                    Dbm
                                 F
                                                                                          Α
                                                                I'll follow you into the storm
Close your eyes and count to ten
                                                                                     E
I'll walk through hell and back again
                                                                Follow you into the storm
