

Barry Gibb - Star Crossed Lovers

```
Tom: D

Eb
Star crossed lovers, waiting to begin

Don't you know something beautiful has passed you by Eb
Star crossed lovers

Bb
Eb
Too much in love to say goodbye

Star crossed lovers, waiting to be heard
Em
No we can't be together if we never try
Eb
Star crossed lovers,

Bb
Eb
You know I hate to see you cry

I used to hang around, waiting on the chance
You could be everything to me
But you just turn away, leading me the dance
Cm
Bb
I'd be the lonely one inside the sun

Eb
Star crossed lovers written on the wind
```

```
Don't you know something beautiful has passed you by Star crossed lovers,
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   Fh
                   Too much in love to say goodbye
   Solo
 Eb
I used to be the judge
 I know you were right, we came to feel as lovers do % \left\{ 1\right\} =\left\{ 1\right\}
 I knew just looking in, waiting for the smile
                                                                                                                                                                                                                          Cm
 I'd be the lonely one, inside the sun
                   Star crossed lovers, never to begin
                   Don't you know something beautiful has passed you by
                                                                                                                                                                                                                          Bb
                   Star crossed lovers, too much in love to say goodbye
                                                                                                                                                                                                                       Bb
                     Star crossed lovers, you know I hate to see you cry
                   Star crossed lovers, too much in love to say goodbye
```

Acordes

