C G A E F7M C
C G A E F7M C

C G A E F C
lazy flies all hovering above C G A E F C
the magistrate, he puts on his gloves D7 G
and he looks to the clouds F C all pink and disheveled B7 C
there must be some blueprints, G Gb
some creed of the devil
F C inscribed in our minds

Am D a hideous game
F Am
vanishes in thin air
Am D
the vanity of slaves
F Am
who wants to be there?
E F
to sweep the debris
F C
to harness dead-horses
D G
to ride in the sun
F C

a life of confessions
E F Ab
written in the dust

out in the mangroves the mynah birds cry in the shadows of sulphur the trawlers drift by they're chewing dried meat house of disrepute the dust of opiates and syphilis patients on brochure vacations

fear has a glare that traps you like searchlights
the puritans stare
their souls are fluorescent the skin of a robot vibrates with pleasure
matrons and gigolos carouse in the parlor
their hand-grenade eyes invalid and blind

a hideous game
the vanity of slaves
who wants to be there?
to sweep the debris
to harness dead-horses
to ride in the sun
a life of confessions
written in the dust

La la la la la la etc.
