

Bee Gees - What Kind Of Fool

```
Tom: Ab
                                                              Tears it apart
                                                              Bb
                                                                         C7
There was a time when we were down and out
                                                              Leaving me pain and sorrow?
                           Gb7
                                                              Ab7
                                                                         Gm
There was a place when we were starting over
                                                              Losing you now
                                                              Wonderin' why
We let the bough break
We let the heartache in
                                                              Where will I be tomorrow?
Who's sorry now?
                                                                            Eb
                                                              Was there a moment when I cut you down?
                               Gb7
There was a world when we were standing still
                       Gb7
                                                              Played around?
And for a moment we were separated...
                                                              Bbm
                                                              What have I done?!
And then you found her
                                                               C7
                                                              I only apologize
You let the stranger in
                                                              For being, as they say, the last to know
           Gb7
Who's sorry now?
                                                              Db
                                                                           Cm
Fm7
                                                              It has to show
           Fb
Who's sorry now?
                                                              Bbm C7
                                                                                   Db
                                                              When someone is in your eyes...
What , what kind of fool
                                                              What, what kind of fool
         Gm7
Tears it apart
                                                                          Cm7
           C7
                                                              Tears it apart
Leaving me pain and sorrow?
                                                                        F7
                                                              Leaving me pain and sorrow?
Ab7
          Gm
Losing you now
                                                              Db7
                                                                          Cm
                                                              Losing you now
Wonderin' why
                                                                         Cm7
            C7
                                                              Wondering why
Where will I be tomorrow?
                                                              Where will I be tomorrow?
                   Gm
                                                              Db7
Forever more that's what we are to be
                                                              What, what kind of fool
                                                                      Cm7
Db Eb
                                                              Tears it apart
Without each other
        Eb
We'll be remembering when...
                                                              Leaving me pain and sorrow?
                                                              Losing you now
There was a time when we were down and out
                                                                   Cm7
                             Gb7
                                                              How can I win
There was a place when we were starting over
                                                              Where will I be tomorrow?
We let the bough break
                                                                                         Gb7
Bbm7
We let the heartache in
                                                              There was a time when we were down and out
            Gb7
Who's sorry now?
                                                              There was a place when we were starting over
Fm7
          Eb
Who's sorry now?
                                                              We let the bough break
                                                              We let the heartache in
What , what kind of fool
                                                              Whoooo's sorryyy noooowww
```

Acordes

