

Belle And Sebastian - Blues Are Still Blue

Will never quite relegate me to a bum
Intro: B Gb B Gb (2x)
                                                                    I left my lady in the launderette
Look at the kid from school
             В
                                                                    You can put_some money on it, you can place a little bet
He's teaching mamas and papas how to be a little cool
                                                                    That when I see my lady
He's changing fashion, the way he dress
                                                                    The black will be white and the white will be black
The tracksuits are old, and the hoody's way too moody
    Eb Bb
                                                                    But the blues are still blue
For a kid with the will to funk B Gb Db
                                                                    Solo: B Db
He dances in secret; he's a part-time punk
                                                                        B Gb B Gb B
                                                                          E Eb B Gb Db
She's getting off the plane \begin{tabular}{c} B \end{tabular}
                                                                    Baby, I love your face
She wants to write a thesis on the population underprivileged
                                                                    I've been creeping round this town because?
The kids fighting up the lane
                                                                    Well, creeping's just my way
Shop lifting, just drifting
                                                                    But with a little wink I'll be there \ensuremath{\text{\textbf{B}}}
      Gb
Like The Switchblade And The Cross
                                                                    I'll be excited for a week, but then excitement starts to fade
      Eb
But if there's trouble she's got the moves

                                                                    I know your young, but you're out of touch {\color{red} B} {\color{blue} Gb} {\color{blue} Db}
She's taking an elementary class in Kung fu
                                                                    You're French, your vocabulary's not quite formed
I left my washing in the launderette \begin{tabular}{c} B \end{tabular}
                                                                    I left my homework in the launderette
You can put some money on it, you can place a little bet
                                                                    I got a letter from my mamma which my stoopid dog has ate
That when I see my washing
Eb
Bb
                                                                    I hid behind the fence
The black will be grey and the white will be grey
                                                                                 Eb Bb
                                                                    Here comes the deputy head with the bark of a bulldog
But the blues are still blue
                                                                         Db
                                                                    He's not making much sense
I'm crying out for my mum
                                                                    I left my lady in the launderette
If the malady don't go away we're in a little trouble {\color{red} B}
                                                                                                             Gb
                                                                    You can put some money on it, you can place a little bet
With the boss of the company B
                                                                    That when I see my lady
Eb Bb
I'm a singer, a swinger I'm a layabout but laying on Eb Bb
                                                                    The black will be white and the white will be black
The dock in the lazy sun
                                                                              Db
                                                                    But the blues are still blue
