

Belle And Sebastian - Mary Jo

Tom: E
  Ε
Mary Jo, living alone
Drinking tea, on her own
She wants, I don't know what you want
Mary Jo, living alone
Drinking gin, the telly's on
She wants
(refrão 1)
The night to follow day and back again
She doesn't want to sleep
Well who could blame her if she wants?
                   Gbm
The night to follow day and back again
She doesn't want to sleep
              Ghm
Well who could blame her, if she sleeps?
Oh who could blame her, if she sleeps?
Oh who could blame her, if she's sleeping?
(verso 2)
Mary Jo, back with yourself
For company, keep telling yourself you're young
And it'll happen soon
Mary Jo, no one can guess
What you've been through
Now you've got love to burn
(refrão)
                   Е
It's someone else's turn to go through Hell
                    Abm
And you can see them come from fifty yards
