

Beyoncé - Bigger

```
( Db C )
Intro: Fm C Fm Bb
                                                                Bigger, you're part of something way better
If you feel insignificant, you better think again
                                                                Bigger than you, bigger than we
Better wake up because you're part of something way bigger
                                                                Bigger than the picture they framed us to see
You're part of something way bigger
                                                                           Bh
                                                                Legacy, oh, you're part of something way bigger
Not just a speck in the universe
Not just some words in a bible verse
                                                                Let love be the water
You are the living word
                                                                I pour into you and you pour into me
   Bh
Ah, you're part of something way bigger
                                                                There ain't no drought here
           Db
                                                                                      Dh
Bigger than you bigger than we
                                                                Bloom into our actual powers
Bigger than the picture they framed us to see
                                                                I'll be your sanctuary, you just don't know it yet
          Fm
                                                                You just don't know it yet
But now we see it
And it ain't no secret, no
                                                                No matter how hard it gets
                                                                You got my blood in ya
Understand the truth 'bout that question in your soul
                                                                                Db
                                                                And you're gonna rise
Look up, don't look down, then watch the answers unfold
Life is your birthrightâ they hid that in the fine print
                                                                You're part of something way bigger
 Uh, take the pen and rewrite it
                                                                You're part of something way bigger
                                                                           Db
 Step out your estimate
                                                                Bigger than you, bigger than me
Step in your essence and know that you're excellent
                                                                Bigger than the picture they framed us to be, yeah
Rise (Rise), the spirit is teachin'
                                                                Ooh, ooh, you're part of something way bigger
Oh, I'm not just preachin', I'm takin' my own advice
                                                                Understand the truth 'bout that question in your soul (Bigger)
Let mama let you know (Let you know)
                                                                Look up, don't look down, then watch the answers unfold
                                                                (Bigger)
Mama's just tryin', I can't get no days off
                                                                Life is your birthright, they hid that in the fine print
I don't get no days off
Truly, I'm feelin' it, I had to say that thing twice
                                                                 Take the pen and rewrite it
                                                                Db
Tryin' to be a good wife
                                                                 Step out your estimate
Still really hard, I can't lie
                                                                Step in your essence and know that you're excellent
But I promised you I will fight, so I fight
                                                                Rise, the spirit is teachin'
If you feelin' frustrated and (0h)
                                                                Oh, I'm not just preachin', I'm takin' my own advice
You're sinkin', I'm jumpin' in (Oh)
                                                                If you feel insignificant, you better think again
Forgiveness is key because we're fightin' something way bigger
                                                                Better wake up 'cause you're part of something way bigger
You'll never lose, we are winners
                                                                You're part of something way bigger
           Dh
                                                                           Db
I'll be the roots, you be the tree
                                                                I'll be the roots, you be the tree
Pass on the fruit that was given to me
                                                                Pass on the fruit that was given to me
           Bb
Legacy, ah, we're part of something way bigger
                                                                           Rh
                                                                Legacy, ah, we're part of something way bigger
```

Acordes

