

Bring Me The Horizon - Deathbeds

Tom: G
                                                                Don't try to fight the storm
    Eyes like a car crash
                                                                You'll tumble overboard
I know I shouldn't look but I can't turn away.
                                                                Tides will bring me back to you
   Body like a whiplash,
                                                                The waves will pull us under
Salt my wounds but I can't heal the way
I feel about you.
                                                                Tides will bring me back to you
                                                                The waves will pull us under
   I watch you like a hawk
                                                                Tides will bring me back to you
I watch you like I'm gonna tear you limb from limb
                                                                The waves will pull us under
   Will the hunger ever stop?
                                                                Tides will bring me back to you
Can we simply starve this sin?
                                                                Tides will bring me back to you
That little kiss you stole
                                                                That little kiss you stole
It held my heart and soul
                                                                It held my heart and soul
And like a deer in the headlights I meet my fate
                                                                And like a ghost in the silence I disappear
Don't try to fight the storm
                                                                Don't try to fight the storm
You'll tumble overboard
                                                                You'll tumble overboard
Tides will bring me back to you
                                                                Tides will bring me back to you
And on my deathbed, all I'll see is you
                                                                That little kiss you stole
The life may leave my lungs
                                                                It held my heart and soul
But my heart will stay with you
                                                                And like a deer in the headlights I meet my fate
                                                                Don't try to fight the storm
That little kiss you stole
It held my heart and soul
                                                                You'll tumble overboard
                                                                              \mathsf{Am}
And like a ghost in the silence I disappear
                                                                Tides will bring me back to you
