                                                                  I've heard these lines a thousand times
                                                                  And I've seen it all before
          Fm
Every second's soaked in sadness
                                                                  Em (G ) Em (G )
Every weekend is a war
        C
And I'm drowning in the déjà vu
                                                                  There's nothing in the air tonight
                                                                                          D
                                                                  There's nothing in the air tonight
We've seen it all before
I don't wanna do this by myself
                                                                  Every second's soaked in sadness
I don't wanna live like a broken record
                                                                  Every weekend is a war
I've heard these lines a thousand times
And I've seen it all before
                                                                  And I'm drowning in the déjà vu

                                                                  We've seen it all before
                                                                  I don't wanna do this by myself
Are we close enough?
                                                                  I don't wanna live like a broken record
There is something I must confide
                                                                  I've heard these lines a thousand times
I think we've lost our touch
                                                                  And I've seen it all before
There's no sparkle in those eyes
                                                                  \mathsf{Em}\ \mathsf{C}\ \mathsf{D}\ \mathsf{C}\ \mathsf{D}\ \mathsf{C}
     What an awful mess I've made
                                                                  I'm sorry, no... it's not enough C
There's nothing left to save
                                                                  We shouldn't feel a love so painfully
Every second's soaked in sadness
                                                                  It hurts right to the touch
      G
                                                                            Em
Every weekend is a war
                                                                  I know it stings, I know this cuts
And I'm drowning in the déjà vu
                                                                  And I wish I could agree with you
We've seen it all before
                                                                  But fuck this love, it's not enough
I don't wanna do this by myself
                                                                  It's not enough...
I don't wanna live like a broken record
                                                                  It's not enough...
