

Bruce Dickinson - Change Of Heart

tom:
 Here I sit alone at the window
 The rain falls down on the glass in the cold
 All my life I've been waiting for a moment
 It never came, maybe never will
 Ah, sometimes I don't know

Those days are gone
 Now I hide where I just can't say
 I'm still there, catching your tears
 Before they fall to the ground

You, you're walking away
 You couldn't stay
 You need a change of heart
 You, you're walking away
 You couldn't stay
 You need a change of heart

Trees are bare, the earth, it is hard
 I wait for a winter, soft winter and snow

Those days are gone
 Now I hide where I just can't say
 I'm still there, catching your tears

Before they fall to the ground

You, you're walking away
 You couldn't stay
 You need a change of heart
 You, you're walking away
 You couldn't stay
 You need a change of heart

And I know, wherever you go
 I'll be around, yeah
 I'll be there, catching your tears
 Before they fall to the ground - yeah

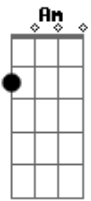

Those days are gone
 Now I hide where I just can't say
 I'm still there, watching your tears
 As they fall to the ground

You, you're walking away
 You couldn't stay
 You need a change of heart
 You, you're walking away
 You couldn't stay
 You need a change of heart
