Am F C C
I've been looking for the time to tell you nothing feels the same since I

Moved back from where you are
Words don't line up

C F C
Every time I try to lay them down, the godforsaken page rips out, and

F C
Tears up into parts

F C
I'm tearing into parts

C C Am F
'So hallelujah' reads the church sign on the sidewalk now I pass along

C F C
The five blocks to the amber colored door

C F C
What's it to you if I still believe in magic

F Am C
See the beauty in our tragic and want to feel like there's something

F
More?

C G Am F
Since I told you that I love you and you said that isn't true

F G Am
Because you treat love like a firework just to keep the sky a muse

C G Am F
You might find that given time, The fire burns right down the

G
And you still stand too close

C
California

Am C F C
You can leave the money on the table and the silver and the halos of

F C
The angels in her sky

C
But I adore you

Am F C C
So I'm getting on this train home and I'm letting all these stars go

Am F C
I'm sleeping through the night

C G Am F
Since I told you that I love you and you said it might be true

C G Am
But you treat love like a firework just to keep the sky amused

F C Am
You might find that over time, and once the fire burns the fuze

G
You still stand too close

(F Am)
(F Am G)
(F Am G)

C G Am F
If I said again I love you, Would you say you know it's true?

C G Am F
We can treat love like a firework just to keep the sky amused

F C
And we might find that given time, the fire burns right down the fuze

G
But I'm still standing close
