distortion.

To play the rest of the song, I suggest playing the one submitted by pighinator found http://?id=31258. If you notice, you can still hear the riff Watching a video, I saw that the guitarist shifted. So here's out the song. So when you play the A chord. Just imagine one way to play it: this tab for the riff... This is the same, but it's easier to play because you don't

I play this one for the intro because I can get more of the You can be the judge of the strums.

...and blend it in with the A chord like this

Acordes

have to shift.
