Have all the songs been sung?

Is there still room for one?

Maybe one more hand in the air saying, "You are holy"

One more shattered heart singing, "You are good"

Maybe one more voice crying out for mercy

One more hungry soul declaring, "You're enough"

As long as there's breath in me

Lord, there will always be

One more song for You

One more song for You

What can I offer You but weakness?

All my life I tried to hide

You brought it all into the light

If You can use the least of these
D

Then there is no one You can't reach
