

Catfish And The Bottlemen - Twice

```
Intro: C C Em F
C C Em F
                                                             Christ
                                                             I ain't ever going back to thinking straight
Maybe I don't mind
                                                             Cause twice, twice it brought me down
                                                             But it's the last time
Just getting high in mine
We're shouting over music
                                                             Christ
With a friend who's like a brother
                                                             I ain't ever going back to thinking straight
Cause if I get time
                                                             Cause twice, twice it brought me down
I just regret most shit
                                                             But it's the last time
                                                             [Solo] C C Em F
From every hangover my head feels
                                                                    C C Em F
                     Em
To every ex I didn't treat right
                                                             From every hangover my head feels
          C
                    Em
                                    Am
To every Monday I call in sick
                                                                                  Em
                                                                                                 Am
                                                             To every ex I didn't treat right
                    Em
                                    Am
To every argument I let slide
                                                             To every Monday I call in sick
                                                                                  Fm
                                                                                                 Am
                                                             To every argument I let slide
Christ
                                                             C Em Am F
I ain't ever going back to thinking straight
                                                             Christ
                                                                       С
                                                                                  Em
Cause twice, twice it brought me down
                                                                                                 Am
                                                             I ain't ever going back to thinking straight
But it's the last time
                                                                                  Em
                                                             Cause twice
                                                                                  Em
Maybe I'll grow tired
                                                             Twice it brought me down but it's the last time
Of you bitching all the time
                                                                 Em Am F)
                                                                 Em Am F)
                                                             (C Em Am F)
Cause when you love the way you?re living
                                                             (CEm Am F)
It's hard to fret about much
Cause if I get time
I just regret most of it
                                                F
From every hangover my head feels
         С
                    Em
To every ex I didn't treat right
                    Em
                                    Am
To every Monday I call in sick
                                                                                                                   (4x)
To every argument I let slide
