

Chris Cornell - Bend In The Road

Tom: G

Put a bend in the road I'm too lost and tired
 To see where I'm going, what I left behind
 And I'm moving so slow, don't know when I'll arrive
 So put a bend in the road, I'm growing tired of straight lines
 (Em C D G)

I set off for the shore, that was farthest away
 From the ones I adored, in the place I was raised
 And I roam down the road just to watch it go by
 And when nowhere is love, maybe nowhere am I
 Everyone needs a touch, or a shoulder for crying

They say love is a crutch, I say love is blind
 And that's all that she needed, that I could not supply
 With a bend in the road, put it out of my mind

[Solo]
 Met a strange little girl, who was everything I ever dreamed I could love or be loved by
 So put a bridge, or a hill, or a forest of pines
 Or a river of blue I can run alongside
 And I'll sleep when it's night, I'll follow all the signs
 Just put a bend in the road, I'm growing tired of straight lines
 Put a bend in the road, I'm growing tired of straight lines
