

Chris Cornell - Can't Change Me

```
tom:
                Bb (forma dos acordes no tom de G )
                                                                                     Fm B
                                                                              Α
Capostraste na 3ª casa
                                                                 Shes going to change the world \rightarrow x3
                                                                          A B C
       Tabbed by: Gaba_P
                                                                 But she cant change me
Album: Euphoria morning
                                                                         A B C
                                                                 No she cant change me
Standard Tuning
This is the guitar tab by G, with
                                                                 Verse
Some minor changes where I thought there should be
The chords may look scary at first but they are really easy
                                                                 Suddenly I can see everything thats wrong with me, yeah
In fact the hole song is not very much complicated
                                                                 But what can I do?
Use a capo on the 3 (you can play it without it, but
With a capo it's much easier) Chords are at the end
                                                                 Im the only thing I really have at all
                                                                 E|0-2-3| 5-3-2|3-7~~|7-5-3|2-3-5|-
          Em7
                 Em7 Em
                                                                 Chorus
She can do anything at all
                                                                             В
                                                                 But wait just one minute here
Em Em A
Have anything she pleases
                                                                       G7
                                                                                  C
                               Fm7
                                                                 I can see that shes trying to need me
 Em Em7
The power to change what she thinks is wrong
                  Em
                                                                 Suddenly I know
So what could she want with me? Yeah
                                                                        G
                                                                                     Fm B
                                                                              Α
                                                                 Shes going to change the world \rightarrow x3
Chorus
          В
    C
                                                                         A B C
But wait just one minute here
                                                                 But she cant change me
    G7 C
                                                                        A B Em
I can see that shes trying to read me
                                                                 No she cant change me
Suddenly I know
                   Em B Chords
Shes going to change the world \rightarrow x3
                                                                                    Em7 Em A
        A B C
                                                                  But she cant change me
        A B Em
                                                                  No she cant change me
                                                                  - | 0 - - - | 0 - - - - | 0 - - - | 0 - - - | 2 - - - |
                                                                  - | 2 - - - | 2 - - - | 2 - - - | 2 - - - |
                                                                  -|2----|2-----|2----|4----|0----|
-|0----|0-----|0----|0----|
                                                                  G7 B G C Cm
Verse
             Fm7
                       Fm7 Fm
Fm
                                                                  -|3----|4----|3----|1----|4-----|
-|5-----|4----|4----|5-----|
She has the daylight at her command
             Em A
She gives the night its dreams, yeah
                                                                  - | 3----- | 4---- | 5---- | 2---- | 5-----
                                                                  -|5----|2---|5----|3----|3----
          Em7 Em7 Em
Em
She can uncover your darkest fear
                                                                  -|3-----|3----|3----
                 Em A
And make you forget you feel it
                                                                 Power chords
                                                                    A B C G
Chorus
                                                                  - | ----- | ----- | ----- |
             В
But wait just one minute here
                                                                  - | - - - - | - - - - | - - - - | - - - - |
                                                                  - | 2---- | 4---- | 5---- | -----
I can see that shes trying to free me
                                                                  - | 2 - - - | 4 - - - | 5 - - - | 5 - - -
                                                                  - | 0 - - - | 2 - - - | 3 - - - | 5 - - -
                                                                  - | - - - - | 3 - - - |
Acordes
      вЬ
                                 En
            ukulele-chords.com
                                       ukulele-chords.com
                                                     ukulele-chords.com
                                                                   ukulele-chords.com
                                                                                 ukulele-chords.com
                                                                                               Jkulele-chords.com
                                                                                                             ukulele-chords.com
```

Suddenly I know