

Chris Rainbow - Iron Sky

Tom: A

You never have to say too much
 I get the feeling from your touch
 Your sadness is the hardest thing to hide
 I'm just a dying man inside

I give you anything you ask
 I find this is an easy task
 For me took a farm of my own
 I'm just a man of stone

And if you should ever wonder
 Why I always make you cry
 It's because I feel the thunder
 Underneath the iron sky

Don't ask too much
 If you have known
 The feelings of a man of stone
 His iron mind is something you won't see
 Because a dying man is me

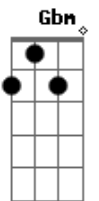

I tried to cry
 It helps sometimes
 But you have to read between the lines
 And everything I feel or say or do
 Or are you made of vayan too

And if you should ever wonder
 Why I always make you cry
 It's because I feel the thunder
 Underneath the iron sky
