

City And Colour - The Way it Used to Be

Tom: G
Intro: G

(Solo)

G, B, Em, C
Intro: /Refrão:

This is the story of a man
Who took for granted everything he had
And how he let it all just slip away
Never to return again

Verso 1:

Now twenty years have come and gone
And still he wonders what he did so wrong
And how that he can win back her heart
And finally step outside of the dark
He buys fresh roses every day
Her favorite flower so she used to say
And now the memories all that he has left
And I'm afraid he'll drink himself to death

Refrão:

This is the story of a man
Who took for granted everything he had
And how he let it all just slip away
Never to return again

(Solo)

G B Em C

Verso 2:

Acordes

It's clear she's moved on long ago
But he still clings on to a distant hope
That she'll come and make a happy home
For now it's him and the bottle all alone
Sometimes you'll see him in the yard
A wounded man with a desperate heart
He keeps the hedges trimmed nice and neat
To keep them the way that the used to be

Refrão:

This is the story of a man
Who took for granted everything he had
And how he let it all just slip away
Never to return again

(Solo)

G B Em C
Último Verso:

A single dress hangs on its own
The scent of perfume all he has to hold
A wasted life waiting on a dream
Hoping for things the way they used to be
This is the story of a man
Who took for granted everything he had
And how he let it all just slip away
Never to return again

G