

Colouring - Time

```
C Bb
                            tom:
                                                               Time, time, time
                                                                                 Bb
Intro: Gm F Dm C
                                                               (Just give me more time, just give me more time)
       Gm F Dm C
                                                                                               Dm
                                                               Oh, I can't sleep at night, every second counts
                                       Dm
                                                                          Gm
                                                                                                 Dm
Time it takes to break my heart if only I could figure out
                                                               Holding the wheel so tight, are we breaking down?
                                      Dm
                                                                              Gm
                                                                                                 Dm
                                                               I never thought I would want us to turn back around
Time it takes to make your mark on the man that's running out
                                                                            Gm F Dm C
I wish I could've turn the clocks around
                                                               Are we out of time, time?
                                                                                          Dm C
                                                                                Gm F
But the weight of the world is pulling me down
                                                               Just give me more time
                                                                                Gm
And everything was easy, only didn't know how
                                                               Just give me more time
                                                                                          Dm C
                                                                                Gm
You don't know what you got until you fall into the ground
                                                               Just give me more time
                                                                                Gm
                                                                                         Dm C
                                                               Just give me more time (Just give me more time)
Time, time, time
                                 Dm
                                                               I wish I could've turn the clocks around
Oh, I can't sleep at night, every second counts
                                                               I wish I could've turn the clocks around
Holding the wheel so tight, are we breaking down?
                                                               I wish I could've turn the clocks around
                                 Dm
               Gm
I never thought I would want us to turn back around
                                                               But all the weight of the world was pulling me down
             \mathsf{Gm} \ \mathsf{F} \quad \mathsf{Dm} \quad \mathsf{C}
Are we out of time, time?
              Gm F Dm C
                                                               Time, time, time
Just give me more time
                     F Dm C
                 Gm
                                                                                                Dm
Just give me more time (Just give me more time)
                                                               Oh, I can't sleep at night, every second counts
                                                                          Gm
                                                               Holding the wheel so tight, are we breaking down?
Time it takes to break my heart
                                                                              Gm
                                                                                                Dm
                                                               I never thought I would want us to turn back round
           Dm
Just tell me how we could make it out
                                                                             Gm F Dm C
                                                               Are we out of time, time?
And look this way we've come so far
                                                                               Gm F Dm C
                                                               Just give me more time (just give me time, just give me time)
           Dm
But then your eyes come with the doubt
                                                                                Gm F
                                                               Just give me more time (oh hoo)
And I wish I could've seen the stars align
                                                                                Gm F Dm C
                                                               Just give me more time (I wish I could've turn the clocks
Oh it was never gonna happen any other time
                                                                                Gm F
                                                                                         Dm C
And everything was easy, oh when I didn't know you
                                                               Just give me more time
You don't know what you got until it's gone into the blue
                                                               Just give me more time
```

Acordes

