

Crash Test Dummies - The Ghosts That Haunt Me

Tom: A

(com acordes na forma de Capostrate na 2ª casa G)

There's a skeleton, in everybody's closet
 I can think of one or two in my own room
 But I would like to introduce them both to you
 Shake their bony hands and so dispell the gloom

Cause your so kind
 I know you would not mind
 You'd send away the ghosts that haunt me now
 And the things I fear
 Just wouldn't seem so near
 And when I stroll out late at night
 There would be nothin' rattlin' at my heels

There are night when all my aching bones won't let me sleep
 And demons come to plague me as I lie in bed
 But I know if you were sleeping there beside me then
 That you would fend them off and they would let me rest
 Cause your so kind
 I know you would not mind
 You'd send away the ghosts that haunt me now
 And the things I fear

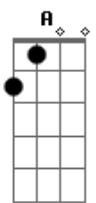

Just wouldn't seem so near
 And when I stroll out late at night
 There would be nothin' rattlin' at my heels

There are nights
 When the wind comes howling through my old place
 I have dreams
 And I wake up with the sweat pouring down my face
 And I wait.....
 Till the morning comes

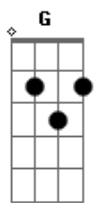

There will come a time I fear when all my days are done
 And they will come collect my corpse and bury me
 And then I hope that you'll come over to the Other Side
 Join me in our new life, keep me company

Cause your so kind
 I know you would not mind
 You'd send away the ghosts that haunt me now
 And the things I fear
 Just wouldn't seem so near
 And when I stroll out late at night
 There would be nothin' rattlin' at my heels
