

Crazy Ex-Girlfriend - No One Else Is Singing My Song

tom:

Intro: C Dm G G
C G Am F Fm C G

Do you ever feel so alone

That if you were to pick up the phone
No one else would be on the other end?

Have you ever been far from home
So scared you had to roam

And now you're beaten and tired with no one to call a friend?
He doesn't count

You tried your best to make a change
But people just think you're strange, and you feel like

No one else is singing my song
No one knows the rhythm enough to sing along

If only someone could see
In three-part harmony
How alone, how alone, how alone
Only I am

It's late and getting colder
You're only getting older
And you're next to someone who is fast asleep
That's so specific

Does anyone understand?
Would anyone understand?
Could anyone understand?

Of course not, because
No one else is singing my song
No one knows the rhythm enough to sing along
When the core of your problem is a

Complicated melisma
No one gets
How alone, how alone, how alone
Only I am

But maybe while I'm singing my song
Someone else is singing along
About a third higher, and they echo at a different moment Moment!

How beautiful it would be
If it was the entire company

But that's impossible

Impossible
Impossible
Impossible
Impossible

Or is it?

Of course not
No one else is singing my song

We're out of paper bags

I mean, duh, no one knows the ever-changing rhythm
Enough to sing along

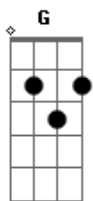

If only someone could see
In 11-part harmony
Or maybe just unison

It's logistically impossible
I am super unique

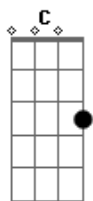

Hold out my lonely hands
Ah!

Only I am
