

Damien Rice - Look At Me

```
Tom: Bb
                                                             Close them and then you'll see that no one will hurt you at (com acordes na forma de A )
                                                             all
Capostraste na 1ª casa
Intro: A
                                                                 Bm Bm Bm
                                                             (EDAE)
                                                             ( A
                                                                 Bm Bm Bm
                                                                             Bm )
Bm Bm
                                                                 D A E)
  Look into my eyes and you'll know that I truly love you
                                                                                                                 Bm
Look into my eyes and you'll see that no one will harm you
                                                             Close your tired eyes and know that I truly love you
Bm Bm
Look into my eyes and you'll feel that I will protect you
                                                              Close your tired eyes and you'll see that no one will harm
Look into my eyes and you'll feel that you belong vou
                                                             Bm Bm Bm
                                                     Bm
                                                              Close your tired eyes and you'll feel that I will protect you
Bm
Look at me, look at me and little by little be sleepy
                                                              Close your tired eyes and you'll feel that you belong
Look at me, look at me and you'll see that the dreams will Bm Bm Bm
come Bm )
                                                             ( E D A E )
                                                  Bm
                                                             ( A
                                                                 Bm Bm Bm
Then close your tired eyes, so wet from crying
                                                             (EDAE)
                                                           A ( A A )
```

Acordes

