

Danielle - I'm Getting So High

```
Say
                            tom:
                                                                I'm getting so high
Intro: E B Dbm A E B Dbm A
                                                                Say
                                                                Say don't tell me
Voices in my head
                                                                            Dbm
                                                                Say don't ignore me
Saying i should be afraid
                                                                Say
To get so loud and scream
                                                                I'm getting so high
You will not make it
                                                                                     R
                                                                Everybody hurts some days of every way
I'm starting to doubt
               Dbm
                                                                Be strong don't feel
I'm afraid to climb
                                                                Afraid now
                                                                                     В
But i would make it
                                                                Everybody hurts some days of every way
Now
                                                                Be strong don't feel
                                                                Afraid now
now
sav
                                                                You don't feel afraid now
Say don't tell me
                                                                No no
                                                                You don't feel afraid now
            Dbm
Say don't ignore me
                                                                Don't feel afraid
Say
                                                                say
I'm getting so high
                                                                            В
                                                                Say don't tell me
Say
                                                                Say don't ignore me
Say don't tell me
           Dbm
                                                                Say
Say don't ignore me
                                                                I'm getting so high
                                                                Say
I'm getting so high
                                                                            R
                                                                Say don't tell me
Dbm B A Dbm
                                                                Say don't ignore me
   No no
And i come here when every word is wonderful
                                                                I'm getting so high
When every road is miles of you
You don't know how
                                                                Everybody hurts some days of every way
                                                                Be strong don't feel
Beauty is your heart
                                                                Afraid now
And now i'm starting to doubt
                                                                Everybody hurts some days of every way
And now i'm afraid to climb
                                                                Be strong don't feel
We are thousand hearts believing now
                                                                Afraid now
                                                                (E B Dbm)
                                                                No oh
Say don't tell me
                                                                No no
Say don't ignore me
                                                                Don't feel afraid now
```

Acordes

