

Danny Worsnop - Little Did I Know

```
Ab7
Intro: E Ab7 Dbm A
E Ab7 Dbm A
                                                          That little did I know
                                                               Ah7
                                                          Little did I know
[Primeira Parte]
       Ab7
                 Dbm
                                                          Well, if you know when you know why
It was a once upon a time and kinda thing
E Ab7 Dbm
                                                          Cuz you don't, when you don't
I saw a flash under the horizon some diamond rings
                                                                Ab7
                                                          If you know when you know why
E Ab7 Dbm A
Well we were on the same chapter, a happily ever after
                                                          Dbm A
                                                          Cuz you don't, cuz
[Refrão]
                                                          [Refrão]
Little did I know I fall in love alone
                                                                     Е
                                                                           Ab7
                                                                                      Dbm
                                                          Little did I know I fall in love alone

Ab7

Dbm
                  E Ab7
This bed was made for two when I was all that broke
                                                                             E
                                                                                    Ab7
                             Ab7
                                                          This bed was made for two when I was all that broke
Yeah, That love, at first sight, could be a little blind
                                                                E
                                                                                      Ab7
                                                          Yeah, that love, at first sight, could be a little blind
 Dbm
                  Α
But baby you're the one can mean just for tonight
                                                           Dbm
E Ab7 Dbm
                                                          But baby you're the one can mean just for tonight
                                                          E Ab7 Dbm A
Yeah, that just goes to show
Yeah, that just goes to show
E Ab7 Dbm
That little did I know
                                                          E Ab7 Dbm
That little did I know
                 Dbm
       Ab7
Little did I know
                                                              Ab7
                                                          Little did I know
[Segunda Parte]
                                                          [Refrãol
       Ab7
                    Dbm
                                                                     E Ab7 Dbm
It was a perfect first impression, it took a turn
E Ab7 Dbm A
Not every match was made in heaven, lesson learned
                                                          Little did I know I fall in love alone
                                                                            E Ab7
E Ab7 Dbm A
For we had a storybook and, and all of the same intentions
                                                          This bed was made for two when I was all that broke
                                                                                       Ab7
                                                          Yeah, that love, at first sight, could be a little blind
                                                          But baby you're the one can mean just for tonight
                                                          E Ab7 Dbm A
Yeah, that just goes to show
                 Ab7
                           Dbm
Little did I know I fall in love alone
                  E Ab7
                                                               Ab7
                                                                         Dbm
This bed was made for two when I was all that broke
                                                          That little did I know
                                                          E Ab7
      E
                           Ab7
Yeah, that love, at first sight, could be a little blind
                                                          Little did I know
                                                          ( E Ab7 Dbm A )
( E Ab7 Dbm A )
But baby you're the one can mean just for tonight
               Dbm A
Yeah, that just goes to show
```

Acordes

