                                                               Nothing will separate us, I'm held by You
                                                               Now blameless, You call me Holy
What manner of love is this, That you would lay down your life Gm
                                                               I've been forgiven, You call me righteous and free.
You paid the price, the sacrifice for redemption.
                                                               Now spotless, You call me worthy
Now I am determined to know, Christ and Him crucified.
                                                                                                        Fb

Now alive and the power in me is You.
                                                                                            Gm
                                                                                                         Eb

I will boldly come, running straight to the One

Singing over me Your songs of salvation
