                                                               And he won't tell his folks

                                                               Cause they're already ghosts

                                                               So we'll just keep each other
While I powder my nose
                                                               As safe as we can
He will powder his guns
                                                               Until we reach the border
And if I try to get close
                                                               Until we make our plan
He is already gone.
                                                               To run run run...
I don't know where he's going
                                                               To run run run..
                                                                                      C G
I don't know where he's been
                                                               To run run run...
But he is restless at night
                                                               Will you stay with me my love?
He has horrible dreams.
                                                               For another day
So we lay in the dark
                                                               Cause I don't want to be alone
Cause we've got nothing to say.
                                                               When I'm in this state
Just the beating of hearts
                                                               Will you stay with me my love?
Like two drums in the grey
                                                               Till we're old and grey
don't know what we're doing
                                                               I don't wanna be alone
I don't know what we've done.
                                                               When these bones decay
But the fire is coming
So I think we should run.
                                                               Run run run run..
I think we should run run run run run...
                                                               Oh run run run run..
                                                                              B7 C G
Run run run run..
                                                               Run run run run..
             B7 C
                                                               Em
Run run run run..
                                                               Ooh and run run run..
                                                               Run run run run..
While I put on my shoes
                                                                            B7 C G
                                                               Run run run run..
He will button his coat
And we will step outside
                                                               While I powder my nose
Checking out the coast is clear
                                                               He will powder his guns
On both sides
                                                               And if I try to get close
We don't wanna be seen
                                                               He is already gone.
Oh this is suicide
                                                               I don't know what we're doing
But you can't see the ropes
                                                               I don't know what we've done.
And I won't tell my mother
                                                               But the fire is coming
It's better she don't know
                                                               So I think we should run.
