

David Bowie - Amsterdam

Tom: C

In the ^{Am} port of Amsterdam
 There's a sailor who sings
 Of the ^{Em} dreams that he brings
 From a wide open sea
 And in the ^{Am} port of Amsterdam
 There's a sailor who sleeps
 While the ^{Em} river bank weeps
 To the old willow tree
 And in the ^C port of Amsterdam
 There's a sailor who dies
 Full of ^{Am} beers full of cries
 In a drunken down fight
 And in the ^F port of Amsterdam
 There's a sailor who is born
 On the hot muggy morn
 By the ^{Am} dawns early light

In the ^{Am} port of Amsterdam
 Where the ^{Em} sailors all meet
 There's a sailor who eats
 Only fish heads and tails
 He'll show you his teeth
 That have ^{Em} rotted too soon
 That can haul up the sails
 That can swallow the moon
 And he'll yell to the cook
 With his ^{G7} arms open wide
 Oh bring me more fish
 Though it's ^{E7} down by my side
 And he wants so to belch
 But he's too full to try
 So he stands up and laughs
 And he zips up his flies
^{Am}

In the port of Amsterdam
 You can see ^{Em} sailors dance
 Paunches ^F bursting their pants
 Grinding ^E women's with paunch (not sure about this line)
 They've ^{Am} forgotten the tune
 That their ^{Em} whiskey voice croaks
 Splitting ^F the night ^{E7}
 With the ^{Am} roar of their jokes
 And they ^C turn and they dance
 And they ^{G7} laugh and they lust ^{E7}
 Till the ^{Am} rancid sound
 Of the ^{E7} accordion bursts
 And then out of the night
 With their ^{Em} pride in their pants
 And the ^{Dm} slut that they tow ^{E7}
 Underneath the street lamps

^{Am}
 In the port of Amsterdam
 There's a ^{Em} sailor who drinks
 And he ^F drinks and he drinks
 And he ^E drinks once again
 Oh he ^{Am} drinks to the health
 Of the ^{Em} whores of Amsterdam
 Who have ^F given their bodies ^{E7}
 To a ^{Am} thousand other men
 It's their ^C worth and their goodness
 Their ^{G7} virtues all gone ^{E7}
 For the ^{Am} few dirty coins
 When he ^{E7} just can't go on
 Throws ^F his nose to the sky
 And he ^{Em} aims it up above
 And he ^{Dm} pisses like I cry ^{E7}
 For an ^{Am} unfaithful love
^{Am}
 In the port of Amsterdam
 In the port of Amsterdam ^{Em} ^{Dm} ^{E7} ^{Am}

Acordes

