

David Fonseca - Do You Really Believe That Love Will Keep You From Getting Hurt?

Tom: C

(com acordes na forma de Capotraste na 5ª casa Intro: 2x: Em7 A7sus4

Em7 A7sus4
You are tired, from all the golden coins you threw
Em7 A7sus4
In the well, that promised things it couldn't do
Em7 A7sus4
You have tried, to live by what your god has wrote
Em7 A7sus4
But those lines, they don't give you just what you hoped

Refrão:
Do you really believe that love will keep you from getting hurt?
Because when you find the one, you'll open your heart and then
Once it is opened, it'll take a little raindrop
To get it broken

And then you'll know what is hurting, you're hurting, you're hurting

Em7 A7sus4
Days go by, and pile up crosses on your wall
Em7 A7sus4
Counting out, the hours that you wished for more
Em7 A7sus4

You're afraid, and you blame it all on yourself
Em7 A7sus4
As if guilt, will give you strength to keep it on

Refrão:
Do you really believe that love will keep you from getting hurt?
Because when you find the one, you'll open your heart and then
Once it is opened, it'll take a little raindrop
To get it broken

And then you'll know what is hurting, you're hurting, you're hurting

(Em C G Em7 A7sus4 C)

Refrão:
Do you really believe that love will keep you from getting hurt?
Because when you find the one, you'll open your heart and then
Once it is opened, it'll take a little raindrop
To get it broken

And then you'll know what is hurting, you're hurting, you're hurting

Acordes

