

Deadlock - To Where The Skies Are Blue

```
Intro: D7 C F C F
Am A D C
Sun goes down once again
                                                     C
While I sit here and feel the tears
F7M Dm C F7M
Running down my cheeks
                                             C
No I am not afraid of the dark
          Dm C F C Am
But the darker it gets the more I realize % \left( 1\right) =\left( 1\right) \left( 1\right) +\left( 1\right) \left( 1\right) \left( 1\right) +\left( 1\right) \left( 1\right) \left(
                                                           C F7M
That there is no one to depend on
                                                    C F
No one to believe in
And so I wait to die here all alone
                                       Dm
                                                                                        C F7M
Like the daylight dies while it is fading away
                                                                                    C
Because nobody knows for sure
                                                                                                                                                                    Am C
That the sun will burn through that cold night once more
              Am C F
Through that cold night once more
(F Am C)
F7M Dm C F7M
To where the skies are blue
F7M C
So I pray for someone
          Am G
To come and make my life seem like
          F7M C F
It`s still worth living it
Am C F
So I pray for you to come
```

```
And so I wait to die here all alone
      Dm
Like the daylight dies while it is fading away
Because nobody knows for sure
             Am
That the sun will burn through that cold night once more
Through that cold night once more
F7M Em G7 F
But still the hardest things to say
            Dm C
Are the words that mean the most
So come on angel, say that you
  F C
Love me and nothing in this
   F C F7M
World will ever scare me again.
Dm C
                   G7
Take me to where the skies are always blue
C Em G F
Always blue
C Em G7 C7M
Always blue
F C Em G F7M Dm C F7M
Always
And so I wait to die here all alone
(CDmC)
            С
Like the daylight dies while it is fading away
C F
Because nobody knows for sure
     G F7M Am
That the sun will burn through that cold night once more
