Intro: G D C G

The angels seek ol'den
My five years of gold
To the sweetest smile and the sweetest par
You ever get to know
That old time
All come round to see
To see that child
Mama called her adalee
Adalee, Adalee
God sent his sweetest angel to rescue me
Sometimes the moon it shines
Sometimes it stays down low
Sometimes it hides behind the darkest clouds

The sun came even show

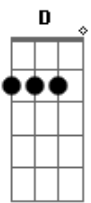

When the day is a place
In Southern Michigan
When a single child shines the purest light
Onto everything

Adalee, Adalee
God sent his sweetest angel to rescue me
Adalee, Adalee
God sent his sweetest angel to rescue me

Before she was born
Other drowned in that sea
Then her lost hope in love
For all he'll ever be
To see that people shout
They find they raise their hands
If they could just see the childs face
They'd see the love from the fellow men
So when I'm far from home
I keep her Picture close
For protection or the love of the angels on the know
If you hear her voice
Until I feel your why
Tears of laughter, tears of joy
Just to view the angels sight
Then one night, the holy ghost come to me
And said hey son, you're a Lucky man, a Lucky man indeed
The day is a thing you really must know
She wasn't down here looking at you
I'll take your lonely soul
Adalee, Adalee
God sent his sweetest angel to rescue me
Adalee, Adalee

God sent his sweetest angel to rescue me
