E D Hours of joy when I was just a boy

A And never wrong I knew

E D Kites of red would fly above my head

A The birds would sing their song

Dbm Now something's wrong

A Where the Sherwood used to be

A Bm B E D D D Neon brambles now I can see

E D Fields of corn on early summer mornings

A Or late afternoons

E D Anytime there was a place to find

A Where life seemed not so soon

Dbm Now all too soon

A Is this where I used to be?

A Bm B E D D D Still remembering what is me

Dbm B A And I won't even try

B A To find a reason why

Bm B D I must live here just to die

(E D A E D A)

Dbm Now something's wrong

A Where the Sherwood used to be

A Bm B E D D D Neon brambles now I can see
