Dpr lan - Nerves

```
Cause I'm doing fine
                            tom:
                Bm
                                                                G
                                                                I'm doing fine
            G
                                                                I'm doing fine
Hey girl
                                                                Bm
                                                                I'm doing fine
I heard you're leaving town
                                                                I'm doing fine
Rm
Hey girl
                                                                I'm doing fine
It might not matter now
                                                                I'm doing fine
                                                                Bm
Hey girl
                                                                I'm doing fine
Maybe it worked somehow
                                                                I'm doing fine
Bm
                                                                G
That?s what I tell myself
                                                                I'm doing fine
                                                                Girl I'm doing fine
When you lie down tonight
                                                                I'm doing fine
G
So many times I could've held on
                                                                I swear it's not a lie
Bm
I still can't believe I left you alone
                                                                I'm doing fine
                                                                Girl I'm doing fine
It tore me down to pieces
                                                                Bm
                                                                I'm doing fine
She?ll never know
                                                                I swear it's not a lie
How much I wished
                                                                G
I never let you go
                                                                I'm getting getting little nervous (nervous)
                                                                Bm
                                                                I'm getting getting to the surface (surface)
Hi how you doin
                                                                I'm getting getting little nervous (nervous)
Bm
I heard you seem to be happy now
                                                                I'm getting getting to the surface (surface)
Hi how you doin
Bm
Don't worry bout me
                                                                He's getting a little nervous
N.c
Cause I'm doing fine
                                                                She's getting to the surface
                                                                You got a little nervous
So you came around my house
                                                                Bm
                                                                Of running back to you
Rm
And you left your marks
                                                                When you weren't there
With your fingertips
                                                                And I'm sorry
G
I'm sitting where you sat down
                                                                 I was hurting too much to know
Bm
And now he's looking for
                                                                That you were standing right there
         Α
Something meaningless
                                                                And I'm sorry
                                                                                       Α
I'm getting getting little nervous (nervous)
                                                                 I will sing this song to you
Rm
                            Δ
I'm getting getting to the surface (surface)
                                                                To tell you I really cared
I'm getting getting little nervous (nervous)
                                                                And I'm sorry
Bm
                                                                 Rm
I'm getting getting to the surface (surface)
                                                                When I left you all alone
                                                                Girl I know that wasn't fair
G
Hi how you doin
                                                                Cause I loved you
Bm
I heard you seem to be happy now
                                                                He loved you
Hi how you doin
                                                                Loved you
Bm
Don?t worry bout me
Acordes
```

Oferecimento Lojalele.com.br

