

Dream Theater - The Bigger Picture

```
Tom: G
                                                               On a slow and steady course
Long before the colors start to bleed
                                                               Dhm
                                                               What if caught in a moment
I can see the painting come alive
                                                                I get lost and can't find my way
Clever like an angel in disguise
                                                               What if all along I was wrong
Moving in and out of reach
                                                               In every turn, in every way
                                            Am
                                                     D
                                                               Would you talk me off the ledge
If the candle lights this crooked path
                                                               Or let me take the fall
Like a lighthouse peering through the haze
                                                                          Gbm
                                                                Better to try and fail
I will find the river through the rain
                                                                Then to never try at all
And I'll reach the water's edge
                                                               You look but cannot see
                                            Am
                                                               Talk but never speak
Shed your light on me
                                                                You live, but cannot breathe
Be my eyes when I can't see
                                                               See but don't believe
Shed your light on me
                                                               Wounds that never heal
         G
Be my guide so I can see
                                                               A heart that cannot feel
The bigger picture
                                                               A dream that's all too real
Like a moth burned by the fire
                                                               A stare as cold as steel
And driven to the flame
                                                               I've listened to the stories of resentment and disdain
(Prophecies' a blessing and a curse)
                                                               I've looked into the empty eyes of anger, fear, and shame
I must bare this cross alone
                                                               I've taken blood from every stone
There's no one else to blame
                                                               And traveled every road
With each treasure found
Another shipwreck's washed ashore
                                                               When I see the distant lights illuminate the night
                                                                           Eb Am
I am carried by the current
                                                                Then I will know I am home
