                                                              Remember me: I gave you life
[Primeira Parte]
                                                              You would not take it
                                                              Your suffering was all in vain
              Fm
The water's edge is where she waits
                                                              It's almost over
Lost soul still wandering
Am Fm C G
Meant to die, but she's stuck not crossing over
                                                              Remember me; you were so young
                                                                Em
                                                              How could I tell you?
                                                                    F
The other side is where he waits
                                                              Remember me: I am the one
    Em
His spirit reaching out
                                                              Who saved your life that night
                             C
Meant to save, but she's too scared to take his hand
[Pré-Refrão]
                                                                       Am
                                                              I was the one who would not \mathsf{Am}
Living in a world without you (drowning in the past)
Dm Am G
                                                              F Am
Is living in no world at all
                                                              Even in death I was the one who would not leave you
So now I call on you
                                                              I used my freedom to protect you
[Refrão]
                                                              And all the while direct_you
Remember me: I gave you life
                                                              Do you remember me this time?
                                                              Even in death I gave you life
You would not take it
                                                               Fm
                                                              I gave you life
Your suffering was all in vain
It's almost over now
                                                              I wanted to deserve a place...
Don't turn your back on Paradise
                                                              A place beside you
[Segunda Parte]
                                                              This time when I reach out my hand
Feeling scared, she's prepared
                                                              It reached all the way to heaven
To give up everything
                                                              [Refrão]
She can't stand to feel like half of her is fading
                                                              Remember me: I gave you life
                                                                 Em
He will choose the only way
                                                              You would not take it
To rid her of her pain
                                                              Your suffering was all in vain
Take her soul now; the decision has been made
                                                              It's almost over now
                                                              Good bye
[Pre Refrão]
                                                                  Fm
                                                              It's almost over now
Living in a world without love (burning into my soul)
                                                              Am F
Is living in a worthless world
                                                                  Em
                                                              It's time I release you from this life
So I will call on you
                                                              Don't turn your back on Paradise
