

Elvis Presley - You'll Think Of Me

Tom: C

I'm sorry now girl but I must leave you
 There's something deep inside my soul keeps calling me
 The winter wind girl will not deceive you
 And in your cold and empty bed you'll think of me
 Oh yes you'll think of me

You'll see me coming you'll see me going
 Don't ask me why I'm just the kind needs to be free
 Just like that outlaw wind keeps on a blowing
 Yeah in your cold and empty bed you'll think of me
 Oh yes you'll think of me

Now I know you loved me just like I wanted
 I know you'd follow me across an angry sea
 But baby I've got a heart that's haunted

Yeah in your cold and empty bed you'll think of me
 Oh yes you'll think of me

Ah but you should know girl that I'll be crying
 Out on that lonely road where not a soul can see
 I'll shed my tears for a love that's dying
 Yeah in your cold and empty bed you'll think of me
 Oh yes you'll think of me

The summer sun girl will bring a stranger
 And he'll be better to you than I used to be
 And when he takes you into his arms girl
 Well in your warm and loving bed you won't think of me
 No no you won't think of me
 Then in your warm and loving bed you won't think of me
 No no you won't think of me
