Emblem3 - Obsessed

```
Tom: A
                                                                Got me feeling like a redbull talkin' flight
                                                                Dbm
  Е
                                                                We could soar to new heights
Tonight
                                                                What we are doing is so wrong, but its feel so right
Abm
I can see it in your eyes
           Dbm
                                                                F
                                                                And that body is so delicious
I'm gonna give it to you right
                                                                 Abm
        Α
I'm gonna give it to you right
                                                                The way she knock on my wood, superstitious
                                                                Dbm
                                                                She the type of she don't make me want to miss this
F
I'm obsessed, that's fine
                                                                The way she put it down on me like a mistress
        Abm
You could even say I'm out of line
            Dbm
But it's heaven when I am inside
                                                                Can't stop so long, never quit this
        Α
                                                                Abm
It's heaven when I am inside
                                                                Work it out like we're working on our fitness
                                                                Yeah, best thing she will have, baby
Forever is too much
                                                                Now bang it up like Miley crazy
Abm
But baby when we touch
Dbm
Our sensations go overload
                                                                 Forever is too much
                                                                 Abm
                                                                But baby when we touch
F
Can't shake the thought of your body
                                                                Dbm
Abm
                                                                Our sensations go overload
Riding on top of me
Dbm
Like a bomb about to explode
                                                                Can't shake the thought of your body
                                                                 Abm
                                                                Riding on top of me
Give you all that I have tonight
                                                                Dbm
                                                                Like a bomb about to explode
Abm
I can see us going for the ride
Dbm
                                                                 F
Your love's like a bird so high
                                                                Give you all that I have tonight
                                                                Abm
       Α
                                                                 I can see us going for the ride
Baby, you're the best, got me so obsessed, yeah
                                                                Dbm
                                                                 Your love's like a bird so high
F
Dim the lights turning off your phone
                                                                 Baby, you're the best, got me so obsessed, yeah
Abm
And I'll be down like a domino
Dbm
Turn me on like the radio
                                                                Dim the lights turning off your phone
                                                                Abm
       Α
Baby, you're the best, got me so obsessed, yeah
                                                                And I'll be down like a domino
                                                                Dbm
                                                                 Turn me on like the radio
Yeah, yeah, hey
                                                                 Baby, you're the best, got me so obsessed, yeah
Abm
Yeah, yeah, hey
Dbm
Yeah, yeah, hey
                                                                Yeah, yeah, hey
                                                                 Abm
You're the best, got me so obsessed, yeah
                                                                 Yeah, yeah, hey
                                                                Dbm
                                                                Yeah, yeah, hey
F
She said she will spend the night
                                                                 You're the best, got me so obsessed, yeah
Abm
```

Acordes

