

Eric Johnson - Minstrel Gigolo

Tom: D

(solo)

(intro)

(verso 1)

You're the minstrel gigolo
 Don't you know
 You sing your songs of
 love so soft and low
 And they want you more and more

(D7M G D7M)

(verso 2)

All the young and lonely
 girls wait for you
 There by the backstage door
 And they're hoping to
 Be the one

(D7M G D7M)

(refrão)

And when you start to sing
 You will be their everything
 And when you start to sing
 Every woman will open up her heart
 And let you in

(verso 3)

You're the minstrel gigolo
 Don't you know
 You sing your songs of
 love so soft and low
 And they want you more and more

(D7M G D7M)

(verso 4)

All the young and lonely
 girls wait for you
 There by the backstage door
 And they're hoping to
 Be the one

(D7M G D7M)

(refrão)

And when you start to sing
 You will be their everything
 And when you start to sing
 Every woman will open up her heart
 And let you in

(refrão)

And when you start to sing
 You will be their everything
 And when you start to sing
 Every woman will open up her heart
 And let you in

(refrão)

And when you start to sing
 You will be their everything
 And when you start to sing
 Every woman will open up her heart
 And let you in

(refrão)

And when you start to sing
 You will be their everything
 And when you start to sing
 Every woman will open up her heart
 And let you in
