

Eric Silver - Fly

Tom: D

Some things are bigger than I am

I want to feel the river flow and go everywhere the water goes

I want to soar just like a bird a hundred feet above the earth

One day I will

Some things are hard to understand

Some things are bigger than I am

One day these broken wings will touch the sky

I'll lean into the wind and fly

I want to feel how love can be, heart and soul on fire and free

I want to be a summer sun, the daydream of my special one

One day I will

Some things are hard to understand

Some things are bigger than I am

One day these broken wings will touch the sky

I'll lean into the wind and fly

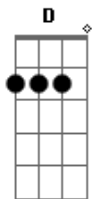

I want to feel the river flow

And go everywhere the water goes

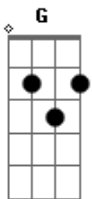

I want to soar just like a bird

A hundred feet above the earth
